A SPECIAL TERM OF McLEAN COURT

Opened Monday in Extraordinary Session

TO TRY ALLEGED MOB LEADERS

Eighteen Men Now Under Indictment—Speedy Trial Will be Had.

NEGRO MOBBED LAST APRIL

The McLean Circuit Court was convened in an extraordinary session at Calhoun Monday morning at 9 o'clock by Circuit Judge Thomas F. Birkhead, for the purpose of hearing the trials of the alleged mob members, who shot and killed William Potter, a negro, at Livermore, early in April last. The purpose of the court in holding the extraordinary session is to give the alleged members of the mob a speedy trial, and the Commonwealth will insist upon entering into trial in as many of the cases as possible during the present week.

Three alleged leaders, Lawrence Mitchell, a brother of the young man shot and injured by the negro Potter, who was mobbed, and Clifford and Jesse Schroeter, are charged in the indictments returned against them with murder, while the other alleged members of the mob, Ellis Thornsberry, W. N. Davis, Cecil Jake, Ira Coghill, John Fielden, John W. Taylor, Sam Colburn, William H. Coghill, Tom Dabner, George Gephart, Robert Hayes, Leslie Wright, Edward Haney, Clarence Roberts and Ellis Burton, are indicted under a blanket indictment, charging them with aiding the three alleged leaders and with being accessories before the fact.

The Commonwealth, which will be represented by Commonwealth's Attorney Ben D. Ringo and County Attorney R. W. Alexander, will seek to have their best case presented to the court first. There is no doubt, however, but that it will be an utter impossibility for the court to try all the cases, as a special term of the Daviess Circuit Court is to be convened by Judge Birkhead next Monday morning. Each trial will no doubt, require a couple of days to be heard, as there will be from twenty-five to fifty witnesses to be heard in each of the cases.

In the case of Clifton Shroeter, one of the defendants, the Commonwealth's Attorney will move to have the indictment fled away, as Shroeter, since having executed bond and released from the McLean county jail, has been entangled in the nets of the federal laws, and is now confined in the Daviess county jail, charged with counterfeiting.

MEN KILLED BY SONS
FOLLOWING A QUARREL

Williamsburg, Ky., Aug. 18.—News has reached here of the killing of Hannibal Ross and Marlon Strunk in the western part of the county. Ross and Strunk, who were old men, became involved in a quarrel, when the sons of each came up. Strunk's son shot Ross and Ross' son shot the elder Strunk. Young Strunk shot and seriously wounded Ross, who is in the hospital at Somerset. The younger Strunk escaped with only a flesh wound and has not been captured.

REFUSED PERMISSION TO MARRY KENTUCKY GIRL

Portland, Ore., Aug. 18.—A December and May romance, springing from a matrimonial want advertisement, was ended here when the municipal department of public safety refused to permit William G. Delaney, a middle-aged blacksmith, to marry Vera Clark, a pretty 16-year-old girl, of Paducah, Ky., who came to Portland on Delaney's solicitation a month ago.

The girl saw Delaney's advertisement in a Kentucky paper and she answered it. Delaney wooing her by mail, she accepted him, coming to Oregon on the $57 which he sent her.

The authorities affirm that Delaney is in no position to support a wife. Delaney demands that the girl repay the $57. She being without funds, has secured a position intending to earn money with which to repay him. Her only living relative is a grandmother in Paducah. More than one hundred Oregon men have sent written proposals to the girl.

TWO NEW STARS ADDED
TO THE NATION'S FLAG

Washington, Aug. 19.—Statehood for Arizona and New Mexico now only awaits the perfunctory approval of President Taft. The Flood-Smith resolution admitting these territories into the Union with the judiciary recall feature of the Arizona Constitution eliminated to meet the objection which caused President Taft to veto the original Statehood bill was passed by the House to-day without the formality of a roll-call. Having been passed by the Senate in the identical language, the resolution will go to the White House as soon as the Vice President and Speaker formally attach their signatures to the measure. No attempt was made in the House to pass over the President's veto the original bill which contained the judicial recall provision.

CENTRAL GROVE.

Aug. 21.—Rev. H. P. Brown filled his regular appointment here Saturday and Sunday.

Mr. W. I. Igleheart and Mr. and Mrs. T. G. Hunter, of this place, attended the Ohio County Baptist Association at Cane Run last week.

Little Miss Susie Belle Carson has returned to her home at Owensboro after a visit to her aunt, Mrs. J. W. Rone, of this place, and grandmother, Mrs. Elvira Miller, of Goshen.

Mr. and Mrs. Alney Tichenor, of this place, visited Mr. and Mrs. L. P. Loney, of Owensboro, recently.

Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Rowe, of Equality, visited their son, Mr. Noah Rowe, here Saturday night and Sunday.

Miss Mary Hazelrigg, of Beaver Dam, who is teaching school at Elmwood, was the guest of Miss Violet Loney, near here, one night last week.

School at this place is being taught again by Mr. J. C. Jackson, of Centertown.

Misses Ruth Tichenor and Myrtle Park, of this place, are visiting Misses Gail Tichenor and Cora Welsh, of Pleasant Ridge.

Mr. Robert Ross, of Pond Run, attended church at this place Sunday. He dined with Mr. M. F. Faught and also visited his aunt, Mrs. G. H. Ashby, Sunday night.

Mr. J. E. Goff, Misses Madie and Georgia Goff, of this place, attended the fair at Leitchfield last week.

Mr. J. T. Hocker and family visited at Mr. J. A. Caldwell's, of Goshen, Sunday.

"Our days are gliding swiftly by." Since our last letter we have again been made to realize that life is uncertain and death is sure. Mrs. Sallie Tichenor, wife of Mr. J. B. Tichenor, died at her home here August 4.

Mrs. Charles Sturgeon, formerly of this county, died at her home in Evansville last Saturday. The remains will be taken to Beech Grove, McLean county, where the interment will take place to-morrow. Mrs. Sturgeon visited her cousin, Mrs. M. F. Faught, of this place, in July. While here she was taken ill and returned home, but gradually grew worse until the end came. Little did we think that her life was so near its close.

HOPEWELL.

Aug. 21.—Mr. Joe Brown has sold his crop to Mr. Fox Brown and is talking of selling his farm and moving to Texas.

Miss Mittie Miles, who was sick last week, is improving.

Miss Polly Coleman is visiting relatives and friends in Rochester. Messrs. John Coleman and Albert Taylor spent last Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Emerson Bennett, across the river from Ceralvo.

Mr. and Mrs. L. R. Shull, Mr. and Mrs. Albin Shull and Miss Lovel went to Taylortown last Sunday to preaching.

Miss Margaret Taylor spent last Saturday night with Misses Marian and Margaret Williamson at Wysox.

Mr. Porter Hunley sold to Mr. Chester Rowe, of Centertown, a young horse for $175, last week.

Kentucky was the third State in the list for internal revenue collections during the fiscal year ended June 30, 1911. Kentucky contributed $33,255,173.98 to the up-keep of the Government. This was only exceeded by New York and Illinois.

MIMIC HANGING BRINGS DEATH TO LITTLE BOY

Was at Play With Younger Brother When the Tragic End Came.

The Louisville Herald of Sunday says:

"Here I go, brother, watch me," was the playful shout of fourteen-year-old Byron Ford to his nine-year-old brother as he clung to the highest perch in his father's barn, four miles out on the Preston-street road, tied a rope around his neck and looped it over a rafter. The smaller brother clapped his hands in glee at the supposed mimic hanging.

An instant later the lad's clutch upon the support slipped, he grasped wildly to check his fall and swung to instant death at the end of a twelve-foot rope.

Crying out in terror, the younger brother went to the house, where he frantically told the mother of the accident. Together the two ran back to the barn to find the body swinging far above their heads. Not until the father was reached and came to aid, was the body lifted down after the fatal plunge. The boy's neck was broken.

The accident occurred only a short distance from the house. Byron and his younger brother had been playing in the barn nearly all the afternoon. Mrs. Ford was about to call the two children to supper when the smaller brother came rushing in almost unable to talk. He finally communicated the cause of his fright to his mother and she, unable to believe the story rushed to the barn half expecting to find the tale an ill-gauged prank.

Mrs. Ford was prostrated when the realization of the tragedy broke upon her. Mr. Ford is an agent of the Bowling Green Nursery and was at work some distance from the house when the accident occurred. County Patrolman Hovekamp and Constable Frank Fisher were called and aided in moving the boy's body to the house.

Besides his father and mother he is survived by two sisters and his brother.

A KENTUCKY CASHIER
ARRESTED IN MICHIGAN

Detroit Mich., Aug. 19.—John C. Byland, formerly the cashier of the Richmond Deposit Bank, in Boone county, Ky., for whom the authorities in all parts of the country have been searching since the bank closed its doors a year ago, was arrested in Detroit last night by Sheriff B. H. Hume, of Boone county, and Detectives Steinheil and Golden.

Byland is charged with embezzling $18,000 of the bank's funds by means of forged checks and other methods. His son, Raymond, who, it is alleged, was his accomplice, was arrested some time ago in San Francisco, and is serving a five-year term in the State prison at Frankfort, Ky. Byland was cashier of the bank and his son assistant cashier. Both men, Sheriff Hume says, had the full confidence of the directors of the bank and the community in which they lived. For several terms the elder Byland was a representative in the State Legislature. The Sheriff will take Byland back to Richmond to-day for trial.

MORGAN MEN FINISH
REUNION AND DEPART

Carlisle, Ky., Aug. 18.—Parks Hill, this county, which for several days has been the scene of a happy reunion of Morgan's men, is deserted to-day. All of the old soldiers have gone to their homes. Gen. W. B. Duke, Col. E. Polk Johnston, Col. G. R. Keller and others left yesterday.

The meeting closed to meet again October 18 in Lexington for the dedication of the Morgan monument. It was decided to hold the tenth annual reunion at Parks Hill next August.

Succumbs to Pellagra.

Middlesboro, Ky., Aug. 19.—J. T. McLane, fifty years old, died here to-day of what physicians claim was a well-defined case of pellagra. McLane had been suffering for over a year with the disease. There are three other light cases of pellagra in Middlesboro, but physicians say they have them under control.

TO OPEN CAMPAIGN AT BOWLING GREEN

On September 4, When Mr. McCreary Will Make His Initial Speech.

The first shot in the campaign to elect James B. McCreary, Democratic nominee for Governor, to the highest office in the State will be fired by Mr. McCreary at Bowling Green, September 4.

At the headquarters of the committee R. H. Vansant, chairman, announced the appointment of an Executive Committee, composed of men prominent in Democratic circles throughout Kentucky, who will co-operate with the regular Committee in an advisory capacity in outlining plans for the campaign. This committee is made up as follows:

R. H. Vansant, J. A. Sullivan, John C. C. Mayo, A. W. Young, J. N. Camden, Jr., P. H. Callahan, Dr. A. Gatliff, W. C. Montgomery.

The personnel of the regular Campaign Committee follows:

R. H. Vansant, chairman.

J. A. Sullivan, vice chairman.

J. N. Camden, Jr., treasurer.

R. G. Phillips, secretary.

First District—Denny P. Smith.

Second District—C. E. Sugg.

Third District—J. R. Mallory.

Fourth District—W. C. Montgomery.

Fifth District—John B. Castleman.

Sixth District—S. D. Rouse.

Seventh District—J. N. Camden, Jr.

Eighth District—J. A. Sullivan.

Ninth District—T. D. Slattery.

Tenth District—John C. Mayo.

Eleventh District—Virgil P. Smith.

In the course of the next week or so the work of the headquarters force in Louisville will be fully under way. Campaign literature will be mailed broadcast. A special campaign book will be ready for distribution by September 1. The preparation of the book is now engaging the attention of the committee, the members of which predict that the coming campaign will be the most memorable in the history of the State.

POPULAR YOUNG TEACHER
DIES OF TYPHOID FEVER

Miss Lula Jenkins, one of the best known teachers of the Green river section, died of a complication of malarial and typhoid fever, at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Jenkins, of Pellville, at 2:30 o'clock Thursday afternoon. She had been ill for seven weeks, and death came not unexpected.

The deceased was twenty-two years and four months of age, and had been a teacher in the Pellville school for several years. She was a devoted member of the Pellville Baptist church, and is survived by her parents, two brothers and a sister.

A "TOSS-UP" DECIDES A LONG-FOUGHT LAWSUIT

Barbourville, Ky., Aug. 17.—Harve Hatton and William Napier, two citizens of this county, disagreed over the ownership of a yoke of oxen, and two trials resulting in hung juries, they decided to toss up "wet or dry" to reach an agreement, the cost of the two suits having already amounted to more than the oxen were worth.

A small board was procured and a considerable quantity of tobacco juice placed on one side thereof. The board was thrown into the air, and when the dust was cleared away Hatton was found to be the owner of the oxen. Both parties went away satisfied.

MISS DYER DECLINES TO SEE REPORTERS

The Owensboro Messenger of Sunday says:

Miss Clara A. Dyer, the former school teacher of the Philpot vicinity who caused an international sensation at Indianapolis Ind. several days ago by preferring charges against Private George Petr, charging that he was an Austrian spy, arrived in Owensboro yesterday on the noon "Texas" train, and registered at the Rudd house. Later in the day she went to the home of her brother-in-law, Dr. Harris, at Philpot, where she will spend several weeks as the guests of her sister.

Upon arriving at the hotel yesterday, Miss Dyer secured a room and refused to be seen by newspaper men, politely sending them an answer to their cards that she was not disposed to be interviewed upon the subject, which has, no doubt, caused her an unlimited amount of embarrassment by the publicity it has given her.

It is known that Miss Dyer was watched upon every hand by newspaper men in Indianapolis, and during the past few days has been refusing them audience.

Deaths in Breckenridge.

Cloverport, Ky., Aug. 18.—Mrs. Mary DeHaven, a prominent resident of this county, died this morning of heart trouble after an illness of several months. She is survived by four children—Mamie, Carl and File DeHaven, of Cloverport, and Mr. Fred DeHaven, of Danville.

Charles Farmer, a well-to-do farmer, died yesterday of the infirmities of age. He leaves one daughter, Annie, and a stepdaughter, Miss Letitia Chapin.

OLATON.

Aug. 21.—Mr. Leslie Combs and wife, of Dukehurst, attended the Association at Cane Run last Wednesday and Thursday and were also the guests of Mr. T. W. Daniel's family, of this place, Wednesday night.

Mrs. J. A. Daniel and three children, of Hartford, who had been the guests of Mr. and Mrs. T. W. Daniel and other relatives at this place, for the past few days, went to Owensboro last Saturday morning, where they will be the guests of her brother, Mr. Crowe Acton, and other relatives.

Mr. Charles Bruner, wife and daughter and Miss Maria Dugan, Messrs. R. L. Arms and Hiram Monroe, Olaton, attended the Grayson County Fair a few days last week.

It's very dry and hot in this section of country. Crops are perishing for rain.

Messrs. C. B. Lyons, of this place, and Lon Whitely, of near Yeaman, attended the base ball game at Hartford last Saturday.

Miss Garnet Felix and Mr. W. B. McDaniel, who have had typhoid fever, are able to be out again.

Mr. J. A. Daniel, of Hartford, was the guest of Mr. C. B. Lyons last Saturday night and went to Owensboro Sunday morning.

Rev. Birch Shields, of Beaver Dam, will fill his regular appointment at Olaton Baptist Church next Thursday night and also Friday evening.

There will be an electric moving picture show at Olaton Friday night.

PRENTIS.

Aug. 21.—Mrs. Cela Brown, of near Equality, is visiting relatives near here.

Messrs. W. A. Casebier, Carl Taylor, Sherman Coleman, Wm. French, John and A. Patterson, Ira Plummer, and Miss Lillian Patterson attended the Association at Cane Run last week.

Misses Laura and Barbary Shultz returned last week from a visit with relatives in Owensboro.

Miss Victoria Bracken returned to Clifton, Ill., last Saturday, after a few weeks visit with relatives near here.

Messrs. Wesley Stevens and M. Miller returned recently from Lexington, where they attended the fair.

Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Stevens and Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Hocker, of Beaver Dam, visited Mr. Albert Patterson last Sunday.

The infant child of Mr. and Mrs. Grover Burgess died and was buried at the Slaty Creek burying ground last Tuesday.

Centennial Celebration.

The Ohio County Baptist Association met at Cane Run Church on Wednesday, the 16th, and a large delegation was present. Thirty-three churches were represented by letter and messengers. It was the centennial of the old church. Joseph Taylor helped to organize the church one hundred years ago and two of his great-grandsons, Revs. A. B. Gardner and J. E. Taylor, took part in the celebration. The history of the church will appear in the minutes of the association.

The Government of Australia is now offering handsome prizes for the best designs to be used in making a new series of postage stamps.

BRIDE DESERTED IN CINCINNATI

Dies of Grief at Her Kentucky Home.

HUSBAND IS HELD IN INDIANA

On Bigamy Charge—A Young Life Snuffed Out by Awful Experience.

DELIRIOUS FROM FATAL HOUR

Lexington, Ky., Aug. 18.—In the fever of a delirium that had been upon her since the day of her desertion in a Cincinnati hotel as the bride of Peter Paul Apkins, now under arrest at Richmond, Ind., on a charge of bigamy, Elizabeth Young Apkins died this afternoon at the home of her foster-mother, Mrs. J. M. Baxter, near this city.

Miss Young and Apkins were married in Lexington on Friday, May 26, by Rev. T. J. Spencer, of the Central Christian Church, after a brief courtship. The following morning they took a train for Cincinnati, where they registered at a hotel.

At midnight people in the hotel were aroused by screams issuing from the room occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Apkins, where the bride was threatening to throw herself from a window. The bridegroom had deserted her.

She was transferred in a patrol wagon to a sanitarium. Sunday morning Apkins called Mrs. Baxter on the telephone and told her to come to Cincinnati, saying that his bride was very ill.

Mrs. Baxter and Mrs. Irene B. Strode, a cousin of Mrs. Apkins, hurried to Cincinnati. Apkins had disappeared, likewise a considerable sum of money and some jewelry belonging to the bride, the girl's relatives charge.

Mrs. Apkins was returned to her home here the following day, and from that time until the hour of her death she had few lucid moments. She was constantly in fear, believing that Apkins was near and was attempting to take her life.

Apkins was arrested at Richmond, Ind., July 20, on a charge of forgery. It developed from papers in his possession that he had previously married and deserted Mrs. Bertha Coler at Paris, Ill.

The Fayette grand jury last month returned an indictment charging Apkins with bigamy, and Detective Henry Baker, of the Lexington force, is to-day at Indianapolis with requisition papers for his return to Kentucky.

Apkins Denies Charges.

Lexington, Ky., Aug. 19.—The requisition issued by the Governor of Kentucky on the Governor of Indiana for the return of Peter Paul Apkins to this city was honored yesterday, and Apkins was brought back to Lexington last night by Detective Henry J. Baker, who went to Richmond, Ind., for the prisoner. Apkins is under indictment here for bigamy.

The indictment charges that he married Miss Elizabeth Young, of this city, and the next day deserted her in a Cincinnati hotel. A few days prior to this marriage to Miss Young he married Mrs. Bertha Kohler, of Richmond, it is alleged.

He made no fight against extradition in the court at Richmond. Miss Young died Wednesday, never having recovered from the shock caused by the alleged illegal marriage.

"I did not rob or drug Miss Young in a Cincinnati hotel, and I did not marry Miss Kohler in Paris, Ill., two weeks before I married Miss Young in Lexington last May," said Apkins to-day.

Strong Democratic Platform is Adopted.

The following is the Platform adopted by the Democratic State Convention in session in Louisville last week:

On National Issues.

Section 1.—We, the Democrats of Kentucky, in delegate convention duly assembled and held in the city of Louisville, Kentucky, on August 15, 1911, do hereby pledge anew our faith in and devotion to the time-honored and eternal principles of our party—first promulgated in the Declaration of Independence and since reaffirmed in successive platforms of the party—and we especially reaffirm our faith in and devotion to the national Democratic platform adopted at Denver, Colorado, in the year 1908.

Section 2.—We denounce the Republican party and the present Republican President, for their flagrant and willful betrayal of the trust reposed in them by the American people and call attention especially to the fact that they have willfully disregarded their pre-election promises to the effect that they would revise downward the unjust tariff system and would relieve the masses of the people of the heavy burdens of unjust and unnecessary taxation.

On the contrary the Republicans enacted the odious Payne-Aldrich tariff law of 1909, pronounced by Mr. Taft to be "the best Republican tariff law ever passed," which law was a gross breach of the promises of the Republican President and his political party. This tariff law, in order to enrich the few, increased the burdens of the many, and authorized those favored few not only to continue, but to increase, their robbery of the many—under the forms of law.

Section 3.—We point with pride to, and heartily indorse the patriotic record made by the present Democratic members of Congress and Democratic Senators, in their efforts over determined Republican opposition to, in good faith, redeem the promises of the Democratic party to repeal unjust and oppressive Republican laws, and to enact wise and just laws for the benefit of the great masses of the people, and we invite all to contrast the aims and record of the Democrats in the House and Senate of the present session of Congress with the aims and record of the Republicans and especially with the Republican session of 1909 which enacted the Payne-Aldrich tariff law.

We especially indorse the record of our Democratic Congressmen and Senator from Kentucky for their fidelity in keeping the promises of their party and representing the people and not the interests, and we denounce the record of the Republican Congressmen and Senator from Kentucky, because they have represented not the people, nor have they sought to relieve their burdens, but have represented the privileged, protected interests of the country.

On State Issues.

Section 4.—Kentucky is, and of right ought to be, a Democratic State, and the Democratic party in appealing for the support of the electorate of the State eagerly invites an intelligent comparison of the records it has made with those made by its political adversary during the temporary occasions it has controlled the affairs of the State.

As against the Republican record in Kentucky of assassination, bloodshed and disregard of law, we present the Democratic picture of peace, scrupulous regard for human life and a strict observance of, and respect for law; as against an empty treasury and rejection and shaming of honest demands against the State, we present a picture of a magnificent State Capitol erected and paid for without any extra tax, and every just claim against the State promptly met and paid in full; as against platform pledges and promises broken and made to be broken, we present a record of all pledges and promises faithfully kept; as against hypocrisy, demagoguery and incompetency we present a record of sincerity, fidelity, competency and statesmanship.

We denounce the action of the Republican Governor for his partisan and unjust action in pardoning the men indicted for participation in the assassination of William Goebel, the Governor of our State, and we assert that those pardons were granted for political reasons, and not upon the merits of the cases.

We charge the Republican party both in the State and in the nation with gross extravagance and willful waste in the expenditure of the people's money, and we pledge ourselves to retrenchment and reform, and to an economical business administration of public affairs.

Section 5.—We are in favor of a direct primary election law, providing that all primary elections shall be conducted under lawful authority and at public expense, and to be regulated in the same manner and subject to the same penalties for violations, as in case of regular elections.

Section 6.—We favor the enactment of an explicit and effective corrupt practice act, which shall determine what campaign expenses shall be legitimate, and which shall provide for the compulsory publication in detail, under heavy penalties, of the campaign expenses of every candidate for public office.

Section 7.—We favor the enactment of such additional laws as will make our entire common school system more efficient and more practical.

We pledge our support to our school system and the educational institutions of the State, wisely and economically administered. Money appropriated for the education of the people is an investment and not an expense; school trustees, school boards and all school officials should be held rigidly responsible for adequate returns on every dollar so invested. We charge the Republican party with neglect of and indifference toward our school system.

Recognizing that a large majority of the teachers of our common schools are women, and that women are now eligible to be elected school trustees, county school superintendents and to hold office, and are frequently so elected, we favor the extension to women of suffrage in all school elections, subject to such wise regulations as to qualifications as the General Assembly may determine.

Section 8.—We favor such laws as will, under appropriate penalties, destroy all corrupt lobbying seeking to influence any legislative body in the Commonwealth on the subject of legislation or the election of officers by it, or in any other matter; but we recognize the constitutional right of the people to petition and to be impartially heard on all questions.

Section 9.—We favor, under wise and proper restrictions, the creation of a State Utilities Commission, having ample powers to discharge its duties.

Section 10.—We favor a change in the present method of selecting the Prison Commissioners of the State, and the removal of all politics from the management of our penal institutions. While commending the present Board of Prison Commissioners for its successful management of the institutions under its care, we recognize that the system of election by the Legislature, under which they are elected, is unwise, and we therefore favor such a change as will place their appointments in the hands of the Governor, subject to confirmation by the Senate, or some other method such as the General Assembly may provide.

Section 11.—We favor a law requiring that a uniform system of accounting be installed and conducted in all public offices charged with the collection and disbursement of public moneys.

Section 12.—We favor the General Assembly submitting to a vote of the people whether or not they desire to adopt an amendment to our State Constitution broadening the powers of the General Assembly, so that it may classify property for the purposes of taxation; but we are opposed to any law the effect of which would be to lighten the burdens of taxation on the wealthy and on corporations at the expense of the farmer or the laboring man.

Section 13.—Temperance is essentially a moral, non-political and social question and should not be made a partisan issue between political parties.

We favor the extension of the present local option law, as applied to the sale of liquors, which has been upheld by our highest court as valid and constitutional, so that the citizens of each and every county in the State may determine for themselves whether spirituous, vinous or malt liquors may be sold therein.

Section 14.—We favor organization and co-operation among the farmers and laborers of the State, and the enactment of such constitutional laws as will protect them from the greed and oppression of the trusts and monopolies of the country, which are the direct fruit of Republican legislation.

Section 15.—We favor such wise and conservative laws as will encourage road and bridge building in Kentucky, and we favor reasonable State aid for the construction of roads and bridges, but only on condition that each county or local community which is primarily benefited shall first do its part and discharge its duty to itself in this regard.

Section 16.—We favor the creation, removed from politics, of a Department of Banking, providing for competent inspection of all our State financial institutions, and similar to the system now existing for national banks.

Section 17.—We favor the enactment of such wise laws as will put into effect all sections and provisions of the State Constitution, and we declare that we are in favor of the enforcement of all laws.

Section 18.—We favor the enactment of wise laws for the protection from accident and injury of all laborers engaged in hazardous employments, and we favor a wise, conservative law regulating the arbitration of labor strikes and disputes.

Section 19.—We favor a law prohibiting peonage and female slave traffic, regardless of color.

Section 20.—We are opposed to all mobs and lynchings and are in favor of the severest penalty possible, under our Constitution, on all officers who fail to protect prisoners intrusted to their keeping.

Section 21.—The Democratic party has always been a party of religious, as well as civil liberty, in Kentucky and the republic. It refers with pride to its noble and consistent record on this important question, so "dear to every true American heart." We are in full accord, both in letter and in spirit, with the teachings of Thomas Jefferson, the founder of our party, on this question, and with the provisions of our State and Federal Constitutions, and we are unalterably opposed to raising any religious test as a qualification for holding any office in the State or nation.

Section 22.—We favor the nomination and election of United States Senators by direct vote of the people.

Section 23.—We denounce and are opposed to Cannibalism or one-man power in all representative assemblies, whether it be in Congress or in representative conventions. We favor the "rule of the people."

Section 24.—On this platform of principles and on the aims and purposes of our party in the State and in the Nation, we appeal to all Kentuckians, irrespective of previous political affiliations, who are proud of the past and desire a still more prosperous, more progressive present and future, for all our people, to support our magnificent State ticket, including our nominee for the United States Senatorship, and our nominees for General Assembly and for other offices.

Conclusion.

Section 25.—In conclusion we call the attention of Kentuckians to the fact that Democratic principles are triumphant in the Nation and in almost every State, and that the Republican party everywhere is professing to adopt Democratic principles in its platforms, but we warn them that the Republicans of this State have placed in their platform some progressive Democratic doctrines, not with a view to carrying them out or to attempt to carry them out in good faith, in the improbable event of their success at the polls next November, but only for the present purpose of catching votes and deceiving the people, so that they might get the offices and emoluments thereof. The broken promises of the present Republican State and National Administrations as well as the entire history of the Republican party, are sufficient to convince all fair-minded citizens of the insincerity of the Republican party, and that it is not the party of the people; while, on the other hand, the record and history of the Democratic party in the Nation and the State conclusively establish its devotion to duty and its purpose in good faith to redeem all platform pledges made to the people.

The Rejected Plank.

Minority report, substituted for Section 13 of majority report, and defeated by a vote of 667 to 514: The Democratic party of Kentucky is, and has always been, a party of moderation and temperance. Every existing statute in restriction of the sale and use of intoxicants was enacted by a Democratic Legislature and approved by a Democratic Governor. Unalterably opposed to the principle of paternalism, and pledging the party to the rigorous enforcement of the laws, the Democrats of Kentucky renew their allegiance to the time-honored principle of self-government and home-rule embodied by the local option clause of the State Constitution and denounce the double-dealing and hypocrisy of the Republican effort to drag into party politics a social, moral and religious question having no proper place therein.

Never His Luck.

"Aha!" And he laughed sendishly as he read from the morning paper: "The burglar shot at the man, whose life was saved by the bullet striking against a button of his clothes!"

"Well," snapped his wife, "what of that?"

"What of that?" he said, as he felt his collar going up steadily to the nape of his neck. "O, nothing except that the button must have been on!"

KISMET.

Thirty-five or forty years ago it was the finest swimming hole in the country. Just where the creek took a sharp turn the roots of an old sycamore prevented the water from cutting into the bank, and the resulting swirl excavated a deep hole. It was a famous swimming place. A gnarled root of the old tree jutted out over the water, and from it you took many a dive. My! but wasn't it fun in the old days to hike off to the creek with a bunch of cronies and swim and splash and dive in the cool water?

Well, a year or so ago you went back to the old home, and one evening you sneaked off and went down to the old swimming hole, intending to take another plunge in the creek, just for old time's sake. But you didn't. Instead of a broad creek you found a piddling little stream that runs about enough water to keep a minnow from dying from thirst. The old sycamore had disappeared, and the old swimming hole wasn't deep enough for a hog wallow.

All you could do was to stand there and let memory do its work. And after indulging in reverie for a few minutes you wiped a tear from your eye and sneaked back to town again. Maybe it is because you are not hunting for them now, but somehow or other there don't seem to be any more swimming holes like the swimming holes of thirty-five or forty years ago. Scientists tell that the appendix veriformis is merely the remains of a bodily organ that used to be worth while, but which has degenerated into a nuisance because of neglect. Maybe it's the same way with swimming holes. With bath houses and bath rooms and plunges and all that sort of a thing to be found in nearly every town it would seem that the swimming holes have evolved backwards, just like the appendix veriformis.

Cuts and bruises may be healed in about one-third of the time required by the usual treatment by applying Chamberlain's Liniment. It is an antiseptic and causes such injuries to heal without maturation. This Liniment also relieves soreness of the muscles and rheumatic pains. For sale by all dealers.

Whaled.

Teacher—Now, children, who can tell me what happened to Jonah?

Johnny—He was whaled. A well known Des Moines woman, after suffering miserably for two days from bowel complaint, was cured by one dose of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. For sale by all dealers.

POLITENESS OVERWORKED

A man there is whose fortune lies in saying, "I apologize!" He feels with all the world at ease when he exclaims, "Excuse me, please!"

His manner mild and confident, Bids every angry mood relent, And all your harsh resentments flit As you reply "Don't mention it." And so his willful way he goes, He steps upon your tenderest toes; He elbows you and hurts your pride As patiently you stand aside Or battle through the baseball bunch sought the front seat at the game

Which now serenely he will claim. He's here, he's there, he's everywhere; And yet to chide him who would dare?

He has a saving grace immense Of mingled nerve and innocence That lets him bully us at ease, If he but says, "Excuse me, please."

RECORD SHOWS A DIFFERENCE

Between the "Advance" and the "Actual"

IN JUDGE O'REAR'S "OPENER"

At Elizabethtown—Says 70,000 Kentucky Voters Are Purchasable.

"EXPLANATION" WAS OMITTED

Elizabethtown, Ky., Aug. 17.—The opening speech sent out in advance to the newspapers by Judge E. C. O'Rear, and the one he actually made here in launching his campaign for Governor on the Republican ticket, differ materially, as shown by a comparison of the advance speech and the stenographic report.

In his speech prepared in advance, copies of which were sent to the newspapers two days before delivery, Judge O'Rear offered the following explanation of the moves which resulted in the election of W. O. Bradley as United States Senator:

"After some weeks of futile baling, Mr. Bradley says he notified the insurgents (the anti-Beckham Democrats) that unless they voted for him the next day, he would resign his caucus nomination, thereby absolving the Republican members from further supporting him, in which event he (Bradley) predicted enough Republicans would vote for Mr. Beckham to elect him, in spite of the insurgent Democrats. Under this threat four of the seven insurgents voted for Mr. Bradley the next day and he was thereby elected."

In the speech he actually delivered at Elizabethtown Judge O'Rear failed to touch this phase of the Bradley election in the same way. Following are the words he actually delivered:

"If these people who want to cast suspicion upon Senator Bradley and convict him by innuendo, have any evidence, let them produce it, put up or shut up. I want to go one step further, and make this statement with premeditated deliberation. If you have evidence that Senator Bradley bribed one vote or that the liquor interests bribed one vote for him, I declare that his title is tainted."

The following remarkable paragraphs of his actual speech were omitted from the advance speech furnished the newspapers:

"I don't know much about Hardin county, but I would not be surprised if in Hardin county there are six or seven hundred men who habitually sell their votes every election, if there is anybody to buy them. Take them over Kentucky, and there are more than 70,000 men who sell their suffrage in the market."

"A distinguished politician of my faith said to me on the eve of the Republican convention which met a few days after the county convention: 'If you do not make a certain compromise on a question before the people of Kentucky today, you cannot have any campaign fund, and if you do take that position you will.' Then he said: 'You are a crazy man, and the very gates of hell will be opened against you in November.' I said: 'Why, they were opened last Saturday.'"

Judge O'Rear also radically changed his statement regarding his language on the county unit proposition.

WOMEN'S FEET LARGER SAY THE SHOE MAKERS

Women's feet are bigger than they used to be, and still growing, say the shoe manufacturers of America, who held their fifth annual fair in Boston not long since. A canvass of opinions among the dealers revealed that the average size of shoes that women wear today is from four to five, whereas 20 years ago the average was from three to five. The No. 2 size in women's shoes has practically disappeared. Only one in 20 retailers handle them. It was also said that many firms were sending their products out with a code number in place of the actual size. Women refused to wear the number that fitted them. Now, whatever size they ask for, whether it be two, four, or six, the dealer gives the shoe that fits them, and he alone knows what size they wear.

Thirty Years Together.

Thirty years of association—think of it. How the merit of a good thing stands out in that time—or the worthlessness of a bad one. So there's no guesswork in this evidence of Thos. Ariss, Concord, Mich., who writes: "I have used Dr. King's New Discovery for 30 years, and it's the best cough and cold cure I ever used." Once it finds entrance in a home, you can't pry it out. Many families have used it forty years. It's the most infallible throat and lung medicine on earth. Unequaled for lagrippe, asthma, hay fever, croup, quinsy or sore lungs. Price 50c, $1.00. Trial bottle free. Guaranteed by James H. Williams.

SOME RULES FOR MARRIED HAPPINESS.

For the Wife.

Don't quote father. Pet your husband; he is only a big kid.

Dress as carefully as when he came courting.

Wear the color he likes you in, and the style of gown.

Have something in the way of a surprise dish for dinner.

Read the papers and magazines and be your husband's intellectual equal.

Keep up with him in any special line of work.

Encourage his hobby.

Be sympathetic, and do not tell him all the troubles of the day; he has had his own, more significant and important individually than all yours put together.

Keep his clothes in order, a clean house and good food.

Keep him, or some other woman will snap him up and make him think she and she alone eved did or will understand him.

For the Husband.

Don't quote mother. Call up your wife while at business and ask how she is, say that you called her up just to hear her voice.

Bring her a box of candy.

One of the new books that she is interested in.

And don't ever lay your head on your pillow at night without having done something to gain and obtain a firmer hold on your wife's love.

Kiss her every day. At least once a month meet her downtown and take her to dinner or the theater.

Don't ever stop courting, for as soon as you do, some other man will begin.

Make your wife your companion.

Take her out with you, and when you have a big time, take your wife along, and the divorce evil will be lessened.

DON'T EXPERIMENT

You Will Make No Mistake if You Follow This Advice.

Never neglect your kidneys.

If you have pain in the back, urinary disorders, dizziness and nervousness, it's time to act and no time to experiment. These are common symptoms of kidney trouble, and you should seek a remedy which is recommended for the kidneys.

Doan's Kidney Pills is the remedy to use. It has cured many stubborn cases in this vicinity.

Can Hartford residents demand further proof than the following testimonial?

Mrs. R. A. Smith, Wilson street, Earlinton, Ky., says: "I am glad to publicly recommend Doan's Kidney Pills. My kidneys were badly disordered and the pains in my back were so acute that I could not stoop without suffering intensely. The pain often extended into my sides and became more severe if I stood for a short time. I had dizzy spells and many times was obliged to grasp something in order to steady myself. I also suffered from terrible headaches and some days could scarcely get out of bed. I can safely say that I spent more than one hundred dollars for medicine and doctors' treatments, but obtained scarcely any benefit. On a friend's advice I procured a box of Doan's Kidney Pills and began their use. This remedy cured me in less than two weeks."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

THE TRUE SPIRIT OF DEMOCRACY

As Exemplified in Its Inherent Teachings.

DIFFERENCE IN PARTY SPIRIT

Which Separates the Leading Forces and Gives Distinction to Each.

WHAT EACH SIDE STANDS FOR

"EVERY MAN HIS OWN TEMPERANCE SOCIETY."

This is the spirit of Democracy that develops character, individualism, manhood, as nothing else can.

In its generally accepted, broad and comprehensive meaning, the spirit of Prohibition is inherently antagonistic to that of Democracy; hence, although it may seem a little harsh, Waterson is right when he declares that "No Prohibitionist can be a Democrat." But in truth and justice, Prohibition does not mean to a Democrat all it means to a Republican. There's a difference in both spirit and design that the word does not determine. To a Democrat it is confined strictly to the liquor curse which he regards as an exceptional evil, so out of the ordinary and so grave in its character that extraordinary treatment is demanded, and, because it comes nearest to Local Self Government—that ideal state, every man his own morality society—a Democrat naturally turns not only loyally to the constitutional provision but to the smallest subdivision which he calls Local Option, to distinguish it from Prohibition, which is an "ism" that sprung from New England, the hot-bed of all "isms." To a Republican it means the whole theory of a paternalized and centralized government. The former, trusting to the good sense, sound judgment and moral stamina of the individual to maintain moral standards, while the latter relies upon the strong arm of the law, the temptation and fears of rewards and penalties, to accomplish all good, believing that the individual is but clay in the hands of the legislative potter who can make of him just any kind of a pot he wants to; all of which, at once, leads to the doctrine that the good should rule and they are the good; the earth belongs to the saints and they are the saints.

Emerson, who, it is believed by some, has said all that is worth saying or will be worth saying for two hundred years, declared that "Republicans abound in young civilians who believe laws make cities, that commerce, education, religion and morals can be voted in and out." No Democrat could possibly subscribe to such doctrine any more than he could believe sumptuary laws can reform a sinner; for he knows all reforms must begin within the human heart, a vital spot that nothing but moral suasion and its own heaven can ever reach.

The utmost power of the State is to restrain; it can neither convert nor reform. We have delegated to it the authority to concern itself about whatever we may do that invades the rights of another, but any attempt to meddle with what we believe or do within our own right, would be an encroachment so intolerable that it would justify revolution.

So we see the difference is so great, far-reaching and fundamental that no Democrat should be confused or misled by the sophistry of mere office-seekers whose success depends upon injecting a moral question, which has no place in politics, into the campaign, thus not only diverting the public mind from their public record which concerns every taxpayer in the State, but so excites the zealous temperance advocate that he loses sight of his party principles and goes off chasing a delusion, leaving his State to suffer the consequences.

Why try to make an issue of Temperance? Isn't everybody for it? Or, if they are not, are the Republicans more competent to deal with the problem than the Democrats? Have they proved this? What have they ever done in Kentucky for the cause of Temperance or any other cause? Did they prove their willingness and ability in that flagrant betrayal of an overwhelming temperance sentiment when they made that notorious deal with a whiskey ring, bartering the County Unit Bill, sacrificing the cause of Temperance with all its hopes, to elect a U. S. Senator? What good came of the sacrifice of the Democrat who abandoned his party with all its policies that so vitality concerned every citizen? What good ever came of that mottled and odorous coalition of preachers, Dick Knott, John Whalen and a lot of over-zealous Democrats of the city of Louisville, in that preposterous stunt of alleged reform? What, oh, what good ever came to the State from the thousands of Democratic votes cast for Willson? Were not measures, principles, policies and sentiments for which they had fought all their lives, sacrificed and worse than wasted? Have we not tried Prince George drunk, and tried him sober and, drunk or sober, found nothing in him—but graft?

Without false issues and scuttles tactics, the chances of the Republicans would be hopeless. Their policy is to break the Democratic party into helpless factions, and they have shrewdly chosen the liquor question as the tool of cleavage. Can there be any respectable number of Democrats so easy? Surely they have had enough to make them at least mistrustful—kind of like a coyote that has had his tail shot off.

A Democrat needs no stronger proof of the uses to which his vote for temperance is debased than the election of Bradley at the cost of the County Unit Bill, to which he and his party were so solemnly pledged. If he needs more, let him review O'Rear's decisions in the Court of Appeals with his Temperance plank in his party platform, not forgetting the proceedings of their recent State convention held in a hall over a brewery, and, as if to further placate the whiskey contingent, now have as campaign chairman a manufacturer of beer keg staves; especially the now famous O'Rear Brewery Hall speech in which he had the hardihood to brazenly declare that Bradley had been elected without stain, even in spite of a whiskey lobby. I wonder how long a party can escape the inevitable consequences of such double-dealt duplicity. I wonder how much longer they can bamboozle the lot of Democrats who have the cause of Temperance so at heart. Why, a child learns when it is burnt. The Chinese say that when a man wrongs you the first time, he is to blame, but the second time he wrongs you, you are to blame. It is a Bourbon who never learns.

May not the Democratic party be entrusted with the serious problems of Intemperance? How comes it that the Republican party is the only conservator of our morals? What have they ever done to earn such confidence? Or is it Blue Laws you seek? Have you witches you want burned? Or would you have, like Sancho Panza, an official doctor to stand at your table and with his wand point out and deny your palate of every tempting dish upon your table as unhealthy?

Left to the Democrats, the question would be eliminated from politics, as it should be, and referred, as provided by the Constitution, to local option, where it would secure more dry territory than under the proposed County Unit system. The County Unit is nothing but an insidious step toward Statewide Prohibition, and Statewide means that Louisville and all other cities of the State shall say whether whiskey shall be sold in Hartford or Ohio county. This is not Home Rule, neither is it Democratic. If Hartford does not want whiskey sold, in the name of Local Self Government, why should the whiskey tubs and troughs of Louisville and Lexington be allowed to butt in?

Taking advantage of the nice points of divergence where the thin lines of distinction so finely mark the parting of the ways between Democracy and Republicanism, the latter seeks to confuse the unwary who are so earnestly enlisted in the cause of temperance, by assuming that all hope is centered in them, that they are the saints and that the Democratic party is the champion of whiskey and debauchery and no good can ever come out of Nazareth.

But, with all his experience and dexterity, can O'Rear, like the Duke of Leeds, double so cunningly that the people shall be unable to track him? I fancy not. Unless, within the next few weeks, he can live down his Brewery Hall speech, November will bring a fitting punishment for his duplicity and we shall then see only fragments and tatters of his beautiful Prohibition halo festooning his ears and ball-bearing jaw.

Remember the Democrats do not deny the evil consequences of drink. Nor are they deaf to the heart-rending appeals of its victims. But a man can be for temperance—even a teetotaler as I have been all my life—without being a Prohibitionist; because I know Force can make but one kind of morality and that a very poor one, supported by fear of public sentiment and dread of penalties of the law, while it offers no hope to and often makes a scoundrel of him who has once offended.

The hope of temperance is local self government and home rule, where morality springs from a sense of right in the individual conscience. XXX

The September Woman's Home Companion.

The September Woman's Home Companion is the advance fall fashion number of that periodical. It contains an immense amount of fashion news that will interest and be of practical service to women. Grace Margaret Gould, who conducts the fashion department of the Companion, does her work admirably; that is, her object seems to be—not to present fashions in a way that will influence women to waste money on clothes, but in a way to show the great mass of women how they may dress fashionably and yet at reasonable cost.

On the entertainment side the September Companion is an unusual number. Notable and lively fiction is contributed by Alice Brown, Annie Hamilton Donnell, Anna McClure Sholl, Mary Heaton Vorse, John D. Swain and others.

Eight special articles, full of new facts and ideas, are included. The titles of some of these are: "What Companion Readers Think About the Cost of Living," "The Boy and Some of His Opinions," "The Modern Woman's Paradise," "House-keeping by Electricity," "Saving Steps in the Kitchen."

Fourteen special departments, and the great fashion, home decoration and household features, complete the number.

REFLECTIONS OF A BACHELOR.

Never put off till tomorrow the man who proposes to-day.

The social ladder is fast becoming the "golden stair."

No girl cares to be loved for beauties of the soul alone; but then, no girl need live in the harrowing fear that she ever will be.

It's a wise woman who knows when to stop talking; but a wiser one who knows when not to commence.

No, Clarice, a man's idea of being loved isn't exactly being followed around with a hot water bottle, a box of pills and the eternal question: "Do you love me as much as ever?"

Shock-absorbers are being used on automobiles nowadays, probably, so that when an accident occurs people won't be so shocked to hear who were the occupants of the car.

Never argue with an angry man; nothing puts out the hot fire of his wrath so effectively as a wet blanket of dead silence.

Love your enemies if you want to; but heaven protect you from your friends.

Propose in jest, and repent by paying damages for breach of promise.—[Helen Rowland in Chicago Journal.]

Loss of Time Means Loss of Pay.

Kidney trouble and the ills it breeds means lost time and lost pay to many a workingman. M. Balent, 1214 Little Penna street, Streator, Ill., was so bad from kidney and bladder trouble that he could not work, but he says: "I took Foley Kidney Pills for only a short time and got entirely well and was soon able to go back to work, and am feeling well and healthier than before." Foley Kidney Pills are tonic in action, quick in results—a good friend to the working man or woman who suffers from kidney ills. Foley Kidney Pills will check the progress of your kidney and bladder trouble and heal by removing the cause. Try them. For sale by all druggists.

UNITED STATES LEPER COLONY

Conducted by Monks Near New Orleans.

SUFFERERS MADE TO FORGET

Cases Are Incurable and the End is But a Matter of Little Time.

SEVENTY DOOMED TO EXILE

All the lepers who belong to the United States do not live at Molokai, and there are other Father Damien's in the flesh to-day. Right in our own United States there is a leper colony. It is on the Mississippi river, sixty miles north of New Orleans. There dwell seventy poor souls who are doomed to die a slow, lingering death.

No escape is possible for them. Theirs is well nigh solitary confinement, simply to wait for the end. Benedictine monks and nuns run the colony. Their lives are consecrated to the work, just as Father Damien's was in far away Hawaii. At their head is Father Keenan; assisting him is Sister Benedicta, one of the nuns who was driven from France when the government stepped in and took the convents.

She fled to this country and asked for some religious work to do. She was assigned at once to the leper colony, and there she is now helping the poor unfortunates to pass their weary days as easily as possible. It is her care to see that their tortured lives are made as pleasant as possible.

The colony has not been there long, but fifteen have already died, and there are as many more who will go soon. It is the work of the good priests and sisters to see that the doomed ones can forget. They arrange entertainments, make up croquet parties, take long walks and drives, and do anything to amuse the poor unfortunates who must stay there until they go to their graves.

Best of all is the leper choir. Those who have voices and a knowledge of music sing in the church regularly, and the practice they receive in singing is part of the plan to help them forget their doom.

The State pays $15,000 a year for the support of the home and the rest of the expense is met by the Benedictine order. It is little enough, as those who are closest to this great charity well know.

Only the other day there was a sad experience for Father Keenan. A man called to see his wife and son, both sufferers with leprosy. It was time for him to go.

"Can't you find just one spot of leprosy on my body somewhere?" he begged. "Then I could come here and live with my family. They are all I have in the world!"

But there was no spot or taint on him and he had to say goodbye.

KANSAS SOCIETY NOTE

—SOMETHING "HAPPENED"

The guests at Mrs. Arthur Mize's tea detected an odor of something burning. They looked at each other knowingly and said: "Poor Mrs. Mize, something is burning up in the kitchen." But the odor grew stronger, and at last one woman said: "It smells as though feathers are burning." Then suddenly one woman screamed: "Mrs. Challiss, look at your hat!" Sure enough, Mrs. Jim Challiss had been standing near a lighted candle and the aigrette on her hat was on fire.

The guests had a great time putting out the fire. The aigrette was what the insurance men call a total loss. An Atchison woman who has gone to thousands of receptions says the burning of the aigrette is the first time she ever knew anything to really happen at a reception. She had given up going because nothing ever happened, but now she will start in over again.—[Atchison Globe.]

"Cardui Cured Me"

For nearly ten years, at different times, Mrs. Mary Jin's of Treadway, Tenn., suffered with womanly troubles. She says: "At last, I took down and thought I would die. I could not sleep. I couldn't eat. I had pains all over. The doctors gave me up. I read that Cardui had helped so many, and I began to take it, and it cured me. Cardui saved my life! Now, I can do anything."

TAKE The CARDUI Woman's Tonic

If you are weak, tired, worn-out, or suffer from any of the pains peculiar to weak women, such as headache, backache, dragging-down feelings, pains in arm, side, hip or limbs, and other symptoms of womanly trouble, you should try Cardui, the woman's tonic. Prepared from perfectly harmless, vegetable ingredients, Cardui is the best remedy for you to use, as it can do you nothing but good. It contains no dangerous drugs. It has no bad after-effects. Ask your druggist. He sells and recommends Cardui.

to the trouble of unscrewing the leg when the family axe was no doubt lying loose just outside the back door.

Admiral Togo, the Japanese naval officer touring the United States, got along all right until he reached Boston. There he ran upon the famous baked bean and quickly went down with a bad spell of indigestion.

According to the theory of Judge
O'Rear, nobody should make charges unless they can be proven. The able Judge should set us an example by proving that there are seventy thousand men in Kentucky who annually sell their votes.

Judge O'Rear boldly asserts that seventy thousand Kentuckians annually sell their votes. Will the Judge kindly classify these con-scienceless citizens who bargain their suffrage? Who are they? To which party do they principally belong?

Marse Henri came out of that fierce scrap with "the boys" with his metaphors slightly disfigured, but still in the ring. In his editorial next day he landed nicely on old Democratic ground. We are prophesying that he won't "limp
in the rear" long.

It looks like a strange arrangement of the affairs of men when the President of our great United States gets only $50,000 (usually considered a large sum) for a whole year's work, while the negro slugger Jack Johnson is to receive almost three times that amount for a year's occasional "punching" through Australia.

The Sentinel is the name of a new daily paper that has just been established at Mayfield, Ky., by Mr.
N. P. Bonny, of Cornith, Miss. It is apparent from the first issues that Mr. Bonny is an experienced newspaper man who will give the public his best efforts in his new field of labor. The Sentinel is a good paper and deserves success.

On the second page of The Herald to-day will be found the Democratic State Platform complete, including the substitute liquor plank which Mr. Watterson fought for so hard but which was defeated.
The Platform is one of the most comprehensive and explicit ever enunciated by a great political party and is worthy the support of every patriotic citizen. It deals with the leading questions of the day in a most emphatic manner—no equivocation or evasion. It is simply a symposium of good government. Read it all.

In his opening speech at Elizabethtown Judge O'Rear, said:
"Take them over Kentucky, and there are more than 70,000 men who will sell their suffrage in the market." This is a bold and a scandalous charge to be brought against the voters of Kentucky. We do not believe it is true, and we believe the honest yeomanry of the State, regardless of political affiliation, will resent the charge at the polls in November. This sweeping charge against all voters alike is unworthy the man who is an aspirant for the highest office within the gift of the people of the State.

One of the most masterful articles on the political situation of the day that has lately appeared in any Kentucky paper is found on the third page of The Herald to-day, by our Rockport correspondent. It is especially pertinent as regards the liquor question. Although differing somewhat from The Herald's expressed views on the matter, the facts are so plainly stated and the review is so conclusive in its general summing up, that it presents a most attractive and convincing argument. This able dissertation is well worthy the perusal of every patriotic citizen.

The Hartford Republican be-wails the fact that nothing is said in the Democratic State Platform about the questionable deal by which Senator Bradley was elected to the seat which he now holds.
What was the use? Hasn't this infamous and notorious episode been given enough publicity already to brand Judge O'Rear (who declared it devoid of stain) as an apparent demagogue, in this instance anyhow? We are thinking, however, that the Republican leaders will hear enough of this disgraceful incident before the campaign closes.

Referring to the opposition with-
in his own party for nomination,
Judge O'Rear said in his opening
speech at Elizabethtown:

"The postmasters, with two or three exceptions, in the First and Second Districts, where they were also County Chairmen (a bad policy, as well as unlawful) were solidly against me."

This "bad policy, as well as unlawful," is exemplified right here in Ohio county, where five postmasters are also committeemen in their respective precincts. Judge O'Rear was right in his just condemnation of a too common pernicious political practice.

In the concluding paragraph of the Democratic State Platform will be found a significant utterance referring to the fact that "the Republican party everywhere (and especially in Kentucky) is professing to adopt Democratic principles in its platforms, not with a view to carrying them out or to attempt to carry them out in good faith, in the improbable event of their success at the polls next November, but for the present purpose of catching votes and deceiving the people, so that they might get the offices and the emoluments thereof." This is a true and a timely warning, and the wise voter will take heed accordingly.

Judge O'Rear said in his opening
speech at Elizabethtown:

"I don't know much about Hardin county, but I would not be surprised if in Hardin county
there are six or seven hundred men who habitually sell their votes every election, if there is anybody to buy them."

The official vote in Hardin county last year was: Ben Johnson,
1,869; D. W. Gaddie, 982; E. G.
Austin, 32. In these days almost every voter is aligned with some political party. There are few known "floaters," or men known to be for sale. In which party in Hardin county belong the six or seven hundred bought votes out of a total of 2,883? Would the Appellate Judge care to explain?

SPEEDY ENGLISH BOAT CLAIMS WORLD'S RECORD

New York, Aug. 18.—The Maple Leaf III, Mackay Edgar's speedy motor-boat, which will fly the flag of Great Britain in the international motorboat races at Huntington Bay, September 4, 5 and 6, reached
New York to-day. The Maple Leaf lays claim to the world's speed record, having attained a velocity of forty-nine and one-half knots or fifty-seven miles an hour last March.
She was designed by Sir John Thornycroft to lift the British cup from America. She has two twelve-cylinder motors, developing 350-horsepower each.

HARDISON NOMINATED FOR THE STATE SENATE

In Seventh District, at Convention Held in Louisville Last Week.

Pursuant to a call of the Executive Committee the delegates to the Seventh Senatorial District Convention met at the Old Inn, Louisville, Ky., on the 15th day of August, 1911, and were called to order by G. B. Likens, chairman of said District Committee. Said Likens was elected to preside over the convention and E. A. Taylor, of Greenville, Ky., was elected secretary.

The following resolution nominating Robert Hardison, Jr., of Greenville, as a Democratic candidate for State Senator in said district, was adopted:

We, the representatives of the Democratic party of the Seventh Senatorial District of Kentucky, assembled in a regularly called delegate convention to nominate a candidate for State Senator from said district, resolve as follows:

1st. We approve the call for this convention and believe that the interests of the people of said district require that a nomination for said
office shall be made by us.

2d. We endorse and adopt as our views upon party questions the Platform and declaration of principles this day made by the Democratic State Convention, and our nominee, if elected, will support all measures set forth in said Platform and will endeavor to have them written into the statute law of the State.

3d. In a representative government the question of supreme importance in the election of a public official is his ability to discharge the duties of the office to which he is elected, and this question of competency of the public official overshadows in importance all partisan questions upon which political parties divide. The larger part of the measures that come before the General Assembly for its consideration are of a non-partisan character. The business interests of the Seventh Senatorial District are extensive and diversified and the legislation needed by the people of the district is essentially non-partisan, and such as demands a competent representative in the State Senate. We nominate Robert Hardison, Jr. for the State Senate from said District, and present him to the voters of the District as a suitable person to discharge the duties of the office.

INDEPENDENCE.

Aug. 21.—School opened at this place on Monday, Aug. 7th, with Mr. Ozna Shultz as teacher. The first two weeks he enrolled 70 pupils in a district with a census enrollment of only 63. Pretty fair, we think, and certainly shows that the patrons and pupils are interested in the cause of education.

Mr. R. P. Beck moved his sawmill last week from our neighborhood to a new "set" near Mr. William Maddox, on Lewis creek.

Mr. Will Phelps recently bought a farm from Mr. Otis Stevens, of the Clifton neighborhood, and will move in a few days to his new home. We regret very much to see him and his excellent family leave our community.

The earth is so dry and hard that breaking wheat ground is being greatly retarded.

Messrs. W. B. Chinn and Will Phelps each bought a new up-to-date riding plow last week and are delighted with their purchase.

Mr. Dick Moseley was a welcome visitor at school one day last week.
Bro. Shields will conduct a revival meeting at this place, beginning on the 4th Sunday in September.

Quite a number of our farmers have baled their hay and report a poor yield.

One of the most interesting events in this community recently, was a match game of baseball on last Friday evening between the boys of Independence school and the boys of the McHenry Graded School, resulting in a tie score of 2 and 2. The game was umpired in a very satisfactory manner by Mr. Virgil Trail. Batteries for Mc-
Henry: Lonnie Maddox, catcher; Charlie Smith, pitcher. For Independence: Noah Phelps, catcher;

here.

Miss Vera Hawkins, who has been visiting in Paducah for the past month, returned to her home
at this place Wednesday.

Mr. J. A. Anderson and wife, of Owensboro, visited his brother, Mr.
Thomas Anderson, Friday night.

Mr. and Mrs. Clint Stevens and family, visited Mr. Stevens' sister, Mrs. Ida Peters, of Beaver Dam,
Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Chinn and daughter, Wilda, visited at Center-town Saturday and Sunday.

The school which was to be taught by Miss Katie Hawkins is being taught by Mr. Fred Anderson with good success. Miss Hawkins will take her place the first Monday.

10,761 feet, made at Mourmelon,

Capt. Felix claims to have ascended 11,152 feet at Etamps, on the fifth instant.

BIG BRITISH STRIKE

FINALLY COMES TO END

Due to the Efforts of Joint Committee—Victory for Trades Unionism.

London, Aug. 19.—"The Joint Committee has settled the strike.
Victory for trades unionism. All men must return to work immediately."

The foregoing telegram, dispatched to the 1,800 branches of the railway union throughout the country, tells the story of the sudden and dramatic ending of Great Britain's spectacular strike.

Whether the leaders can now control their men and get them back to work, remains to be seen.
It is a significant fact that in the agreement signed to-night the leaders pledged themselves merely
"to use their best endeavors to induce the men to return to work at once." The leaders on both sides who signed the agreement realized that the strike fever which has gripped the country has become so violent that even those who had called it forth might be unable to allay it.

Under the agreement the railroads are to take back all the strikers without prejudice.

A tremendous wave of relief swept over England to-night when at 11 o'clock announcement was made from the Board of Trade that the railway strike had been settled and that the men would return to work immediately.

Monday from a two-weeks visit to her sister, Mrs. Ed Johnson, of Buel, McLean county. Mrs. Ed
Johnson and Mrs. Gus Johnson accompanied Miss Bennett home. Mrs.
Ed Johnson was taken suddenly ill on her way and is yet very ill at the residence of her mother, Mrs.
Ann Bennett.

No newspaper in Kentucky can boast of a better corps of country correspondents than The Herald.
The present issue is a fair sample of their numerous and personal excellence. A good correspondent takes a large part in the life and interest of a country newspaper and their work is always appreciated, especially in The Herald office.

The Breckenridge County Fair is on this week and to-morrow is the last day. Large crowds are attending. Each year sees a fine exhibition with special attractions. It is probably the only fair left for Ohio county people to visit this year, and the opportunity should be improved upon. Reduced rates on railroad.

Mr. S. W. Bennett, of Owensboro, and Mrs. Louisa May, of Maxwell, were married last Wednesday evening at the residence of Mr. and Mrs.
L. P. Turner, East Hartford. Rev.
R. D. Bennett performed the ceremony. The newly married couple visited in this neighborhood until Saturday, when they left for the home of the groom. The groom is a retired farmer of Daviess county and the bride is one of the foremost ladies of her home community.
They have many friends to wish them much joy.

A card party was given at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. H. E.
Mischke, city, Monday night in honor of their visitors, Misses Lela Mischke and Nora Smith. Refreshments were served and a very pleasant evening was spent. Those present besides the hostesses were:
Misses Tiny Yelser, Ruth Riley, Beatrice Haynes, Catherine Pendleton, Mary Spalding and Winnie Simmernan; Messrs. Cassius Spalding, McHenry Holbrook, E. Y.
Park, Harold Holbrook, L. T. Riley,
W. T. Pendleton, Sydney Williams, city, and Wilbur Haynes, Whites-ville.

WEALTHY MAN CHARGED WITH STEALING CHICKENS
Evansville, Ind., Aug. 17.—Frank Guenther, vice president of the Banner Coal company, of this city, was arrested late this afternoon on the charge that he is at the head of a band of thieves who have stolen nearly 8,000 chickens in the city during the past few months. Guen-ther is a wealthy man and has a family. His arrest created great surprise.

CONGRESS ADJOURNED
—SOME THINGS IT DID

According to announcement, the special session of Congress closed yesterday (Tuesday) afternoon.
The following are some of the things it did:

Passed reciprocity pact with Canada.

Passed campaign publicity law.

Admitted Arizona and New Mexico to the Union.

Enlarged the National House of Representatives to keep pace with the growing population.

Started investigations of trusts and inquiry into the spending of money in the executive departments.

The farmers' free list, wool and cotton tariff revision downward, were passed, but were rendered null by President Taft's veto.

Election of Senators by popular vote was buried in the Senate.

Woodward-Petty.

Mr. Arthur Petty, of the mechanical force of the Hartford Republican, and Miss Nellie Woodward, both of Hartford but the latter recently holding a position as stenographer with a law firm in Burkesville, Ky., surprised their friends here by getting married in Louisville last Wednesday. The event took place at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Woodward, the latter a brother of the bride. The happy couple returned to Hartford Friday. Mr. Petty was formerly with The Herald and is a splendid printer and gentleman. His bride is one of Hartford's prettiest and most accomplished young ladies.
Their many friends wish them much happiness.

LODGE RESOLUTIONS

Hall of Hartford Lodge No. 675,
F. & A. M.

Hartford, Ky., Aug. 19, 1911.

Whereas, Our dear brother, Gabriel J. Bean, has been called from labors on earth to everlasting refreshment in the Paradise of God,
after an honorable life of more than eighty-seven years, more than fifty years of which he lived a zealous and upright Mason, and endeavored to cultivate at all times the noble tenets of our profession,
therefore be it

Resolved, That in his death the Lodge has lost a beloved brother,
an honored Past Master and a true Mason whose influence for good has not died, but will live on and on.

Resolved, That we tender to the family our heartfelt sympathy and commend them to that Father who never forsakes those who put their trust in Him.

Resolved, That we endeavor to emulate the virtuous conduct, the zeal for the order and the piety to God, of our departed brother.

Resolved, That these tokens of esteem be spread upon our records, published in the county papers and Masonic Home Journal, and a copy presented to the family, and that we wear the usual badge of mourning for thirty days.

ed to run for County Judge of Webster.

DEATH OF A NOTABLE CITIZEN AND PREACHER

After a lingering illness of dropsy
and other diseases peculiar to old age, Rev. G. J. Bean passed away at the residence of his son-in-law,
Mr. J. H. B. Carson, in Hartford, last Thursday evening. For about five years he had been an invalid and his remarkable vitality was all that bore him up during the closing days of his illness.

Bro. Bean was a notable man in many ways. His strong personality and upright life drew to him people of all natures and classes, and none knew him but to admire and respect him. He was of a sunny disposition, always genial and companionable. For many years he was a preacher of the gospel and perhaps had performed more marriage ceremonies and officiated at more funerals than any man in this section. He was liberal in all that he did. As a preacher he accepted whatever remuneration might be tendered him, and if it was meager, that made no difference in his zealous work nor did he seem to notice
it. He believed in the theory that the gospel is free, and his services were evidence of it. If a couple wanted to get married, Bro. Bean was always ready to officiate, and if the bridegroom saw fit to reward him it was all right. If not all right again. He always gave to the limit of his finances in charitable and religious matters.

Bro. Bean was a zealous Mason,
but he thought most of the great Lodge Above, into whose membership he was initiated in early life and whose ritual he carried in his heart and exemplified in his daily life. He is now gone to take up his perpetual abode with the membership of the sainted spirits. He leaves behind a pleasant memory—an honorable record. He was known simply as Brother Bean—brother in love, respect and friendship—
whether uttered by grown persons or the lisping tongues of children.

Bro. Bean was born on September 6, 1823, therefore was nearly 88 years of age. On October 17,
1844, he was married to Mary J.
Acton and to this union there were born eight children as follows: Mrs.
Martha Ross, Mrs. Josie Duke, Mrs.
J. H. B. Carson, H. B. Bean, Marvin
Bean and T. H. Bean. Nov. 21, 1897, he was married to Sarah Francis Hocker, who died several years ago. To this union was born one son, S. M. Bean. All of these children survive him. He also leaves one brother, Noble Bean, of Sulphur Springs, and 22 grandchildren and 29 great-grandchildren.

His funeral occurred at the Christian (formerly the Methodist) church Friday morning and the house was packed with sorrowing relatives and friends. Services were conducted by Revs. Virgil Elgin and R. D. Bennett, of the Methodist church, which denomination
he began serving as a preacher in the year 1861. The Masons had charge of his remains and interment was at Oakwood, our local cemetery.

A noble, consecrated life has ended and a pure spirit has gone to be with the Master it loved and served so well.

HUMAN HANDS AND THE PRESS

A Vast Array of Workers Ever Busy

FURNISHING READING MATTER

The Various Emotions and Acts of Human Kind
Make the Record.

A STUPENDOUS UNDERTAKING

The August American Magazine contains an interesting editorial talk in "The Interpreter's House" on the newspaper. In closing the talk the editor says:

"I ask the reader to see in his imagination what a multitude of human beings are busy with the printing press. There are in the United States 25,000 or 30,000 regularly issued publications, in which tens and tens of thousands of people write, from time to time, little or much. One of our great metropolitan dailies recently boasted that 1,500 people were more or less regular contributors to its columns, counting its great staff and its correspondents scattered all over the world. As many people write for that newspaper, therefore, as read some of our small country weeklies. In other words, the printing press is the least monopolized of any invention. It is completely in the hands of the people. It is one of the most imposing democratic institutions in the world—one of the most completely democratic. That is its great strength.

"Now, what's the meaning of all this? It simply means that through the printing press you transfer to paper an astonishing picture of all the varied emotions and characteristics of all human nature. Confine yourself for a moment to the 1,500 people who write for that great daily referred to above. Imagine them segregated into a community. What an assortment! In their midst would be love, hate, loyalty, jealousy, spite, cruelty, gentleness, courage, generosity—and all the other attractive and unattractive qualities found among human beings.

Take the one point of differences of taste and refinement to be found among them. Some of them would shudder at the thought of mentioning in connection with a wedding the fact that the bride's first husband killed himself three years before. Others of them would not think much about it. Even the bride, remember, might not feel as badly as you do about it. It is amazing how differently people look at things. In all candor, I must say that I have published things which I was afraid would displease, only to discover later that they pleased people. A short time ago I published the picture of a man with a caption under it which held the man starkly to account for certain public acts. The only recognition I got from the family was a polite note from the man's wife saying that they liked the photograph, and could they get one?

"Now, is it discouraging to take this view? Not in the least. That is my unequivocal answer. On the contrary, the prospect seems to me most encouraging because the problem of how to produce a better press is so clearly defined. We shall have a better press when we have better men, and, God be praised, we already have frequent illustrations of a good, courageous press in the numerous cases where decent and sympathetic men are at work in the profession. Human beings have the power in their own hands to better themselves, and in thousands and thousands of cases they have the inclination to exercise that power, and they are actually exercising every day."

MEN WHO CRY ON THE STREET—THE REASON WHY

"I was standing on the street corner to-day waiting for a car," said a caller at the Deaconess Home in Chicago, "and I saw a man walking along with bowed head, crying: No, he had not been drinking. He looked like a respectable working man of middle age. I wanted to speak to him, but—I didn't. What do you suppose was the matter?"

The deaconess whom he was addressing said nothing; but she knew why some "respectable middle-aged men" walk the city streets crying. Visions rose before her: A man who had just visited his boy, in jail for stealing—a man who had been hunting work for three weeks and "lost out" every time, till the dearly loved wife and baby at home were literally starving—a man who had just had a flashlight of his own degradation and was comparing it with the innocence of the clean-hearted lad that used to cuddle into his mother's lap. The men go weeping along the streets sometimes; but oftener far, they go too dead at heart to weep.—[Christian Herald.]

THE EDITOR'S PRAYER.

"Give me, dear Lord, the sweet philosophy

"That will enable me, with friendly eye,

"To view the things that have no joys for me—

"The ways of other men that pass me by.

"I would not frown at folly, solemn-wise,

"And be content shrewdly to criticize.

"Give me the wide philosophy that finds in each poor jest and antic, something good;

"Show me the tie that me to others binds,

"That makes men lovable, when understood.

"Too long I've had the narrower view to be

"Clad in the garb of cold austerity.

"Give me a faith, just for each common day,

"Not in vain things beyond my ken and care;

"Let me believe that down life's darkest way

"The grime and dust hide something good and fair.

"Let me find something in each sordid scene

"Of hidden good that is, or might have been."

WHEN MAN GROWS OLD—A LITTLE PHILOSOPHY

It is a law as old as the first man, that when "old age comes over him," or begins to set its seal on his mental make-up, that the man turns to the soil for rest and recreation. He wants to make something grow; he wants to smell the earth; he wants to do something that encourages pleasant thoughts of long ago. This, too, whether he has pushed the pen, followed the sea or jockeyed with the professions for a living. He wants to work in the garden; trim trees or do something like that for exercise and recreation; he wants to encourage procreation in all earthly things. Maybe it is the opening strain of the benediction, to the solemn measure of which he goes to his long home. Working the soil and the increase thereof is the purest calling known to man; maybe it is instinct of the highest and purest which turns his waning activities soilwards. It is the inborn desire to do better that prompted some old sport to write of two contrite old men:

"King David and King Solomon Led merry, merry lives;
And they had many, many lady friends

And many, many wives.
But when old age comes over them,
With many, many qualms,
King Solomon wrote the Proverbs;
King David wrote the Psalms."

BIDS ARE ASKED FOR A BIG DAM

To Be Built Across Ohio Near Henderson.

TO BE OPENED SEPTEMBER 7

In Louisville—First of Series Between Louisville and Lower River.

ESTIMATED COST IS $1,840,000

Evansville, Ind., Aug. 18.—Bids for the construction of lock and dam No. 48, in the Ohio river, 18 miles below Evansville, are being advertised for by the war department of the United States. The completion of this costly structure will give this city a nine-foot river stage the year around. With a clear title to the property constituting the site of the proposed dam, Major Lyle Brown, of Louisville, has informed local people interested of the intention to open bids in his office September 7.

The dam is to be 2,310 feet long and the lock, which will be on the Indiana side of the stream and will consist of a single chamber, is to be 110 feet wide and 600 feet long. The estimated cost is $1,840,000.

The Henderson dam will be the first of the series to be constructed between Louisville and the lower river, and in cost and importance, it will rank second only to the dam and locks at Louisville. The pool made by the new dam will have a surface elevation of nearly 338 feet above the sea level or about nine feet higher than that of the lower pool at that point. Four or five years will be required to complete the dam, locks and buildings.

Construction of the dams and locks was provided for by the last Congress which made a cash appropriation of $350,000 and authorized an expenditure of $900,000 additional under the continuing contract system.

The dam provides a nine-foot slack water harbor for both Henderson and Evansville and will put eight feet of water on the lower sill of lock No. 1 in Green river the year around. It will back-water a distance of 36 miles and insure easy navigation over a number of bars that now impede the movement of vessels during the summer.

The Henderson dam is to be one of a series of dams in the Ohio river recommended by the engineering corps of the War department with a view to creating a nine-foot stage from Pittsburg to Cairo. The entire system comprises 54 dams and contemplates an expenditure of $63,731,488. The first six dams near Pittsburg have been completed. Dam No. 7 is being constructed. Dam No. 8 near East Liverpool, O., 46 miles below Pittsburg, has been completed. Five other locks and dams between that point and Louisville have been completed.

ALL GRADUATES SECURED
EXCELLENT POSITIONS

The Lexington Leader says: The graduates of the College of Mechanical and Electrical Engineering of the State University of Kentucky, class of 1911, have all secured good positions and most of them will enter immediately after commencement upon the duties of these places. A graduate of this department of State University can feel perfectly certain that when he has completed his course of study, with the approval of the University, there is an opportunity immediately awaiting him for remunerative practice of his profession.

The great engineering concerns of the country have learned to regard State University of Kentucky as one of the most efficient technical schools of the country. Nearly all of the members of this year's class were selected by representatives of various engineering and manufacturing concerns who came to State University for the express purpose of procuring efficient engineering service.

The industrial works of this country have long come to the conclusion that in order to enjoy the greatest development they must fill their engineering corps with competent young men who have the foundation of a thorough technical education.

OIL FEVER RAMPANT
IN HANCOCK COUNTY

The oil fever is sweeping Hancock county as never before, says the Hawesville Clarion. Three companies are busily engaged in taking leases of lands practically in all parts of the county. James H. Snowden, who married Miss Marian Adair, of this city, two years ago, and who has many wells in the Illinois oil region, with 30 wells on a single farm of 160 acres, is in the lead so far, with 85 leases taken, and his agents, Messrs. W. C. Kelly and Pope McAdams, are still at work. Next in importance is J. M. McCoach of Huntington, W. Va., who is representing the McGuire syndicate, and he has already taken 30 leases. The other lessor is D. L. Wilson of this city, who has taken 27. In each lease there is an obligation requiring the lessor to drill within a year or forfeit the lease, and it is said that at least the first named two will begin work at once. In fact, the drilling machinery of Mr. McCoach has already been shipped to Hawesville.

Six years ago a well was sunk here in the suburbs of the town, and oil flowed freely, but the well was closed, and few, if any, know why. In addition to the above, it is said that Mr. Hennen Jennings, a former Hawesville man, but for many years with a gold syndicate in South Africa, has made arrangements to drill on his large tract of land above town.

A Scientific Question.
"Nothing is ever totally lost or destroyed," said the professor of physics.

"In that case," said the simple and frank person, "how do you explain the fact that everybody loses umbrellas and you never meet anybody who has found one."

THE FORTUNATE ISLES.

You sail and seek for the Fortunate Isles,

The old Greek isles of the yellow-bird's song?

Then steer straight on through the watery miles,

Straight on, straight on, and you can't go wrong.

Nay, not to the left; nay, not to the right,

But on, straight on, and the isles are in sight.

The Fortunate Isles where the yellow birds sing,

And life lies girt with a golden ring.

These Fortunate Isles they are not so far,

They lie within reach of the lowliest door;

You can see them gleam by the twilight star;

You can hear them sing by the moon's white shore—

Nay, never look back! These leveled gravestones

They were landing steps; they were steps unto thrones

Of glory for souls that have sailed before,

And have set white feet on the fortunate shore.

And what are the names of the Fortunate Isles?

Why, Duty and Love and a large content.

Lo! these are the Isles of the watery miles,

That God let down from the firmament.

Lo, Duty and Love, and a true man's Trust;

Your forehead to God, though your feet lie in the dust;

Lo, Duty and Love, and a sweet face's smiles,

And these, O friend, are the Fortunate Isles.

Woman's Power Over Man

Woman's most glorious endowment is the power to awaken and hold the pure and honest love of a worthy man. When she loses it and still loves on, no one in the wide world can know the heart agony she endures. The woman who suffers from weakness and derangement of her special womanly organism soon loses the power to sway the heart of a man. Her general health suffers and she loses her good looks, her attractiveness, her amiability and her power and prestige as a woman. Dr. R. V. Pierce, of Buffalo, N. Y., with the assistance of his staff of able physicians, has prescribed for and cured many thousands of women. He has devised a successful remedy for woman's ailments. It is known as Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It is a positive specific for the weaknesses and disorders peculiar to women. It purifies, regulates, strengthens and heals. Medicine dealers sell it. No honest dealer will advise you to accept a substitute in order to make a little larger profit.

IT MAKES WEAK WOMEN STRONG,
SICK WOMEN WELL.

PRAYERS ANSWERED IN MIRACULOUS WAY

And Former Cincinnati Leaves
His Crutches at St. Anne's Shrine.

The Cincinnati Enquirer says:

Catholic clergymen of Cincinnati are greatly interested in the accounts of his miraculous cure from a so-called fatal disease, told by R. E. Lynch, formerly of this city, but now a resident of Bowling Green, Ky. Mr. Lynch, who is visiting in Cincinnati, is enroute to his home, after making a trip to the shrine of St. Anne De Beupre, near Quebec, Canada. He left his home hobbling on crutches, the lower portion of his body being entirely crippled from paralysis. Yesterday he walked steadily without crutches.

"I am certain that my miraculous cure is due to nothing but the intervention of God, through my prayers at the shrine of St. Anne," said Mr. Lynch, speaking of his experience, which has been corroborated by a number of his Cincinnati friends, including Rev. Father Buse, of St. Peter's Cathedral. "Four years ago, when I was employed as a railroad engineer, I was a victim of a head-on collision. I received injuries to my spine and of internal nature. The result was that doctors swore on the witness stand that my case was hopeless and that as the disease of the spine progressed I would gradually become entirely paralyzed and die. My prayers were answered as I knelt before the shrine on July 21. I arose and walked for the first time in years without aid. I added my now useless crutches to the large pile now resting in the holy citadel."

Mr. Lynch is a brother of Mrs. Oscar Onken, and Misses Hattie and Maude Lynch, of this city. Other local persons who were at St. Anne Novena in Canada were C. H. Westernman and Miss Katherine Mesch.

According to the Canadian papers the case of Mr. Lynch has created widespread attention in that part of Canada, although it is said many similar instances of some wonderful cures are ascribed to the faithful prayers of pilgrims to the shrine of St. Anne De Beupre. Novenas of St. Anne have been held recently at both the churches in Cincinnati and Covington, Ky., when hundreds of persons seeking freedom from physical ills made pilgrimages to the local shrines.

Stepping on a rusty nail has been the cause of many cases of lockjaw. The nail was not so much the fault as neglect of the wound. If such wounds were promptly cleansed and BALLARD'S SNOW LINIMENT applied there would be no lockjaw, as the antiseptic properties of the liniment would counteract the poison and the wound would heal quickly. Price 25c, 50c and $1.00 per bottle. Sold by Hartford Drug Co., Hartford, Ky., and Donovan & Co., Beaver Dam, Ky.

WHY LEGISLATION GOES STRANGELY

When It Passes Through Congress Channels.

PERSONNEL OF SURROUNDINGS

Of the President is Such as to Insure Certain Things Being Done.

SOME MEN NOT CONSULTED

(By Clyde H. Tavenner, Special Washington Correspondent of The Herald.)

Washington, Aug. 19.—When the history of Mr. Taft's administration is written, his failure to win the sympathy of the people will no doubt be attributed to his selection as advisers, men who are not in sympathy with the needs of the people of the country.

Let us see who the men are, surrounding President Taft, who know exactly what "they" want; and who, through having practically a monopoly of the President's ear, have been able to deceive him into the belief that he is acting the part of a real statesman if he vetoes legislation of the very character that he promised the people before election in order to secure their votes.

In his cabinet Mr. Taft has Secretary of State Knox, former steel trust attorney; Attorney General Wickersham, former sugar trust attorney, and Secretary of Commerce and Labor Nagle, former attorney for the Waters-Pierce (Standard) Oil Company.

Then in his immediate family circle the President has Brother Charles Taft, who is so constituted temperamentally and financially that he can view legislation only from the viewpoint that "Big Business" views it; and also Brother Henry W. Taft, a member of the New York law firm of Strong & Cadwallader, which represents the sugar trust, Wall Street and the great industrial corporations.

For substantiation of any advice the President may receive from these sources, he has but to call in Senator Lippitt, Aldrich's successor from Rhode Island. Mr. Lippitt is one of the millionaire beneficiaries of the struggling cotton trust, and knows exactly what he wants. Others who know what they want and upon whom the President relies are Penrose, Smoot, Guggenheim, DuPont and the balance of the ring of special privilege servers in the Senate.

And here is a list of the men whose advice is not sought by Mr. Taft: LaFollette, Clapp, Cummins, Bristow and all genuine progressive Republicans.

These facts tell their own story. There's no chance for the President to do anything for the people so long as he has present advisers around, and from present indications he has no intention of taking on a new set of advisers.

THE PATRIOTISM BEGINS RIGHT AT HOME

"Why should I support my own town?" is a question every one should put to himself and honestly consider. The result would be beneficial both to the individual and the town. Here are a few of the many reasons he would be sure to find:

The town is his home and a man's first duty is to his communal home as well as to his domestic home. Again, local patriotism demands it. Love for and pride in one's town is the duty as it should be for the joy of every citizen, and that patriotism should find constant expression in furthering its interests. His town affords him the

A FACT ABOUT THE "BLUES"

What is known as the "Blues" is seldom occasioned by actual existing external conditions, but in the great majority of cases by a disordered LIVER.

THIS IS A FACT which may be demonstrated by trying a course of protection of its government and its laws and guards his property against fire and other losses.

A man should trade in his home town. Its business men are courteous, willing and progressive, their stock of goods is large and varied, and if there is something one wants which they do not carry, they are always ready to procure it. Unlike catalogue houses, the home merchants help to pay taxes of a town, they contribute to churches, improvements and entertainments. Without the business men, the town would stagnate and property decrease in value.

The schools of a town provide ample and satisfactory education for one's children, and its churches meet and satisfy his religious needs and conserve the moral and spiritual interests of the community.

Its newspapers keep him informed on local matters, enlarge his knowledge, help him in business, minister to his enjoyment and that of his family, and promote every wise effort put forth to help the best interests of the town.

Invents New Cement.

Lexington, Ky., Aug. 19.—A. Himes, the Lexington caterer, has invented a cement that promises to play a part in the building trade of the future. In its hardened condition it is smooth as marble and so hard as to successfully resist blows with a heavy hammer. Friends of the inventor say the material is likely to be widely used in decorative art, as well as in building. During the winter he will experiment with the material with a view to making it resist changes in the weather.

Hay Fever, Asthma and Summer Colds

Must be relieved quickly and Foley's Honey and Tar Compound will do it. E. M. Stewart, 1034 Wolfram St., Chicago, writes: "I have been greatly troubled during the hot summer months with hay fever and find that by using Foley's Honey and Tar Compound I get great relief." Many others who suffer similarly will be glad to benefit by Mr. Stewart's experience. Foley's Honey and Tar Compound is effective for coughs and colds in either children or grown persons. No opiates, no harmful drugs. In a yellow package. Refuse substitutes. Sold by all druggists.

ADAM AND EVE IN THE GARDEN

Must Have Been Free From Worry and Care.

SOME THINGS THEY ESCAPED

Including All That Has Come Since Our First Parents Lived.

EDUCATION BEGAN IN EDEN

In these days of many needless complications of the problem of living, that was already sufficiently complex without the addition of man-made embarrassments, it is interesting to try to imagine what the new and unspoiled earth was like in the eyes of our first famous progenitors, and to speculate as to their probable mental attitude toward this world that "was all before them where to choose." It is a question whether the positive or the negative blessings of the pair that wandered hand in hand through Eden's bowers were the better reasons for continued thankfulness. Their minds were untroubled by the multifold turmoil of a thousand seething agitations that twentieth century men and women think they must worry about.

There was in that golden age no question of votes for women, there were no perturbing Court decisions, there were no fluctuating stock markets. There was no fire insurance, and there was no politics nor any mayoralty campaigns. There were no book agents, no telephones, no bills overdue, no policemen, no professional baseball. There were no schools, and it was not necessary to be public-spirited, for there was no public. Neither was it necessary to start any reform associations for any purpose, for there was nothing to reform. The same blessed absence of the public made public opinion an unknown quantity and saved the expensive bother of public utilities, public service corporations, public libraries and everything that suggests an agglomeration of persons for the supposed communal welfare. There were no newspapers, and there was no one to report the antics of the leviathan in his reedy covert or the doings of the megatherium in the heart of the ancient wood. No faunal naturalists invaded the verdant solitude, and the great animals were not captured for circuses or slaughtered for museums.

In the midst of the unimaginable flora and fauna the first man and the first woman had all the room they wanted, and there were no strap-hangers, no crowded cars, no raised rates to be maintained or abated, no smoke nuisance, no unnecessary noises, no hot pavements or crowded tenements. The grass was of untrodden greenness, the four waterways of Eden ran crystal clear where cities were unknown; the trees had never felt the incision of the ax. The dinosaur was as harmless as the dove, and ate like a kitten from the hands of the first gardener and his wife. Since there was no fire, one could dispense with cooks, and the servant problem was nonexistent.

The positive blessings of Adam and Eve were numerous. In the first place, they were perfectly suited—they were made for each other. In the next place, they were born grown up, and thereby escaped such human juvenile ailments as teething, the multiplication table, practicing, and all the intellectual and physical growing pains of the young idea. Whatever they did they could do without taking counsel with lawyers or important relatives or trustees or aught except their own inclinations. They were, perchance, to be commiserated upon the fact that they were orphans; but inasmuch as they had never known the care of father and mother, they could not miss the parents that never were.

Why did they go and spoil it? Why could they not have rested content as they were? Why did they pull down the laden branch and nibble at the fruit of the tree of wisdom, when the pomological diet they knew would have for its sequel lasting unhappiness?

And yet somehow, as we reflect upon these things, the vision of an Adam and an Eve going forth from easeful indolence to labor, from the sheltered and cradled existence to the stern warfare with hard material conditions, leaving behind them the life of least resistance and the primrose path of dalliance for the rocky, uncompromising way that leads from Life to Death—this is the picture of our first parents that it is more profitable for us to consider than the picture of their first uncivilized, ignorant, indolent estate. "Earth was not earth ere sons of men appeared"; and it was not placed under our human feet and hands and eyes to be merely a pleasure ground, an Arcady or a forest of Arden, whatever the Socialist's Utopian dream of it may be. It is not too much to say that if Adam, after the fall, was less of an angel, he was more of a man, and Eve was far better qualified to be the mother of the race.—[Philadelphia Ledger.]

As Between Two Trades.

A lawyer in a court room may call a man a liar, scoundrel, villain or a thief, and no one will make a complaint when court adjourns. If a newspaper prints such reflections on a man's character there is a libel suit or a dead editor. This is owing to the fact that the people believe what an editor says. What a lawyer says cuts no figure.—[Wills Point (Ind.) Chronicle.]

A NEW SHELL GAME—HOW IT WAS WORKED

A new shell game is being played at the sun-drenched beaches. Let there be three or four girls gathered together under a striped awning or parasols, and a young man appears displaying three shells. Says he:

"Girls, how many shells do you see?"

"Three," say the girls.

"I say there are four," says the young man, and he shuts his hand and opens it again. "Now how many are there?"

"Three," say the girls, stoutly.

"Three."

"But I say four," he declares.

"Will you each give a dollar to the Children's Outing Fund if I'm wrong?"

"Yes," they all agree.

"Then give it," says the suave young man, "for wrong I am—there are only three. I've caught six persons with the same dodge this morning."—[New York Telegraph.]

Attack Like Tigers.

In fighting to keep the blood pure, the white corpuscles attack disease germs like tigers. But often germs multiply so fast that the little fighters are overcome. Then see pimples, boils, eczema, salt rheum and sores multiply and strength and appetite fall. This condition demands Electric Bitters to regulate the stomach, liver and kidneys and to expel poisons from the blood. "They are the best blood purifier," writes C. T. Budahn, of Tracy, Calif., "I have ever found." They make rich red blood, strong nerves and build up your health. Try them—50c at James H. Williams'.

"What do you want?" demanded Mr. Newlywed, as he confronted the tramp at the door of the bungalow, "breakfast or work?"

"Both, sir," replied the wayfarer, timidly.

"Well, eat that!" returned the other, savagely, handing out a biscuit and a piece of steak, "and you'll have both."

Whereupon Mrs. Newlywed glanced reproachfully at her husband, for he was giving away the first fruits of her culinary studies at the cooking school.

Sallow complexion comes from bilious impurities in the blood and the fault lies with the liver and bowels—they are torpid. The medicine that gives results in such cases is HERBINE. ## WINTERING IN CAMP IN ARMY QUARTERS

After Which Came Some Desperate

Fighting by Our Kentucky Boys.

Beaver Dam, Ky., Aug. 17.—Arriving at Dalton, our boys once more went into winter quarters. Dalton was a beautiful little city of some 2,000 inhabitants, 38 miles from Chattanooga and 110 miles from Atlanta and on the Western and Atlantic Railroad.

Hitherto we could hear nothing definite from our homes, but now arrangements were made by the two Governments to exchange letters, so while we were in our winter quarters we were receiving letters from our homes regularly. It was a great treat to the boys to hear from the "dear ones at home" once more.

The winter of 1863 and '64 was a cold, snowy winter and the two great armies lay idle through that winter without any movements being made by either side. So the winter wore slowly by, with nothing doing except now and then a prize drill by some of the regiments.

The Southern soldiers were receiving presents from their homes, such as clothing and provisions, but our boys could receive nothing, as there was a great hostile army between us and our homes. We could only look at our Southern comrades receive their presents and it is claimed by some that here was where the Kentucky Brigade received the name of "Orphan Brigade." Anyhow, while they were enjoying their good things, we were enjoying our beef and corn bread issued by our Government.

The hard campaigns through which our boys had gone had thinned our ranks till we did not have but half the number that was mustered in at Russellville. We were endeared to each other as brothers and if one of the company went to the country and made a raise of anything to eat past common, he always divided with the boys.

As the spring of 1864 opened arrangements were being made by the two great armies for another campaign. General Joseph E. Johnston had taken command of the Army of Tennessee and was having the army equipped and everything in readiness to meet Sherman with his host. So on the first of May the cavalry that covered our front was driven in, then the army was put in motion and on the 4th day of May the 9th Kentucky, with the balance of the brigade, took a position on Rock Face mountain, two miles from Dalton, on the left of Snake Creek Gap, where the railroad ran through from Chattanooga to Dalton.

We held that position for one week, when Sherman made a flank movement on Johnston and Johnston met him at Resaca. Here one of the most desperate battles of the war was fought. Sherman, thinking that he had Johnston in a trap, made a furious attack, but he was met by Hardee's Corps which hurled him back in great disorder. But he renewed the onslaught and this time his main attack was against the Orphan Brigade. They made several desperate charges, but each time they were hurled back with great slaughter. Here Sergeant J. K. Wickliff, of our company, was killed and some of our boys were wounded, but we held our position when night put an end to the fighting. Just at nightfall, when everything had become calm, the 4th Kentucky brass band came out on the picket line and played "Dixie." Everything was perfectly still till the music ceased, when they fired a volley, but to no effect, as our boys were in the ditches that night. Johnston withdrew his army across the Oostencola river and took a position in Cartersville.

An ordinary case of diarrhoea can, as a rule, be cured by a single dose of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. This remedy has no superior for bowel complaints. For sale by all dealers.

A Piano Worth Owning

Here is a short description of this magnificent Cote piano: It is a large size instrument, measuring 4 ft. 9 in. in height, 5 ft. 2 in. in length and weighs, boxed ready for shipment, over 800 lbs. The finest material and most experienced workmanship have produced in the Cote an instrument excellent in tone, power and appearance. The case designed is very beautiful. It is adorned with rich carvings, standing out in bold relief, indicating artistic elegance. The surface of the instrument attracts at once with its deep mellow color, polished and resplendent as a mirror. The key-board is a wealth of genuine ivory keys. The action is easy, elastic and responsive. The piano has a fine, full-singing tone, at once deep and tender, capable alike of producing spectacular musical effects and of yielding the softest, dreamiest melodies.

This elegant piano compels admiration for its massive showy qualities, and likewise proves itself friendly to deepest, tenderest feelings of the heart. It will win its princely way in any home.

It is installed in thousands of the best homes, conservatories, educational and religious institutions in the land and is well and favorably recommended by leading public men, women and institutions; by musicians, teachers and other excellent judges of musical instruments. Ask to see the portfolio containing these recommendations.

Get it For

How to Secure this $350 Piano Free

Cut out the coupon at the bottom of this advertisement, fill it in properly, mail or bring it to our store. Then buy your goods at our store, get your friends to buy, and have your friends to get their friends to buy. Collect all their certificates and place them to your own credit in our store ballot box. With your friends' help you can secure several hundred dollars' worth of certificates every week. The piano will be given to the one securing the greatest number of certificates between September 1, 1911, and May 1, 1912.

OUR PRICES WILL REMAIN AS LOW AS EVER

REMEMBER: It will not cost you one penny more to trade with us. Our prices stay just as low—besides, we offer many special bargains. Our goods will still be of thoroughly reliable quality, our styles and patterns all modern and at the height of fashion.

There is every reason why you should do all your trading at our store.

COME TO THE STORE TO-DAY AND SEE THE PIANO

Play on it—test it, then enter your name in the contest which BEGINS SEPTEMBER 1, 1911.

(Fill out, cut out and mail or bring to our store.)
